

HORSE SHOW IS A GREAT SUCCESS

Ends Saturday Afternoon
With Another Big Crowd of Society Folk.

El Paso's third annual horse show went into history Saturday afternoon with another record crowd watching the equine performers do their stunts in front of the grand stand. The stands were crowded and all of the boxes filled with society people watching their favorites as they paraded in front of the crowd or did the jumps and canter in the arena.

A touch of color was given the show Saturday by the presence of J. J. Barrett making the El Paso movie picture and using the crowd as a background for the principals in the moving picture showing society life in El Paso. The eighth cavalry band played during the show and the mounted drill by 32 men and women.

DELEGATION TO GO TO CONGRESS

Water Users Work for Project Cost Reduction; Five Thousand for Festival.

Water users of the El Paso valley will send a delegation of two or three representatives to Washington within the month, to remain during the entire session of congress if necessary, and work for a reduction in the cost of the project of from $500,000 to $2,000,000. This was voted during a joint meeting of the El Paso and Elephant Butte Water Users' associations in the chamber of commerce building Saturday afternoon.

Felix Martinez presided at the joint meeting of the upper and lower valley organizations, and brought the business of the session to the front at once.

The opening outline of the situation was made by Mr. Martinez.

The first important vote passed unanimously, by both organizations, to raise between them the sum of $5,000 toward the coming international irrigation congress, to be staged in El Paso in the fall of 1916 in conjunction with the International Farming congress and Elephant Butte dedication celebration.

Chairman Martinez pointed out the big results to accrue to the upper and lower valleys from the triangular project here in the fall, calling particular attention to the advertising pull the valley would get for the bringing of farmers to take up lands under the new project.

Delegation to Washington.

Then, on the necessity of sending a delegation to Washington to work with congressional committees and the department of the interior for a material reduction in the $10,000,000 dam and canal system, Mr. Martinez said.

"The Las Cruces water users have seen the need of a representative at the capital to work for them, and have already commissioned" M. B. Thompson to leave at once on his errand. Now it behooves the lower valley water users to arrange to have their interests represented at Washington.

even if it is found that a delegation of two or three will have to remain at the capital during the entire session of congress to get what it wants.

Must Get Reduction.

"If we cannot effect a reduction in the cost of the Elephant Butte project, it will be a very difficult thing for the land owners to pay for it. We have the right to reduce the present estimated cost of $10,000,000 to $2,000,000, and now the question is whether or not we can do so.

"The El Paso farmers are now organized. They are in the strongest position with the administration they ever will hold, and if we are to get what we want from the government, now is the time to strike for it if at all."

What Lands to Be Watered.

The El Paso association voted to instruct the delegation selected to take up with the reclamation project through the department of the interior, the matter of just what lands are to be irrigated by the government project, and exactly where the canals were to run in the completed system.

Richard P. Burgen, reported finding two letters from the reclamation service to local valley men, refusing to answer questions as to the location of the proposed canals.

One Man a Socialist.

Mr. Martinez rose to his feet to state that there was one man in the service who had strong socialist views and held a determined prejudice against giving information of any kind to land owners of large tracts.

"We have had to fight this man right along," said Mr. Martinez, "and we shall have to continue to do so. The delegation we want to send to Washington must reach over his head, which we cannot do from here."

Benefits of Congress.

Mr. Burgen, after telling of his discussion of the coming city and county appropriations for the irrigation congress, stated that the benefit to reclamation from the convention here and the celebration would be almost incalculable.

"Already," said Mr. Burgen, "one out of every three newcomers to El Paso during the past few years, has come here primarily because of the Rio Grande project. The Hue has arrived when these valleys are guaranteed against a water famine. The great need now is to get farms in here to work the lands."

CENTRAL POWERS PREPARE FOR RUSSIAN INVASION

Bucharest, Rumania, Nov. 23.—German, Turkish and Bulgarian are preparing for a Russian invasion of Rumania. Under German supervision preparations for defense are proceeding actively along the whole Bulgarian border.

Troops are being brought up from the Serbian front and about four divisions of Gen. von der Goltz's army are reported to have joined the Bulgarian forces. The Bulgarian minister at Washington (Stefan Panyotoff) and the famous campaigner include many officers of high rank. Among the dead are the son of the Bulgarian minister at Washington.

The plan of campaign designed and executed by the Bulgarian Gen. Boyadzhoff, has won warm praise from the German generals.
